Internal Dissension Splits Boston's Club

Fight Centers About Joe Wood, as Carrigan Wants to Let Him Go and Speaker Interferes, Says Dope on the Crisis.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

BOSTON, May 2.—From a pennant contender the Red Sox, touted all spring to be the best team in the American League, may wind up in the second section of the circuit. Internal dissensions are said to be tearing Bill Carrigan's team to pieces. Joe Wood is said to be the center of the maelstrom. This Speaker, the crack center fielder of the Boston club, is said to be mixed up in the argument, standing by his friend Wood.

According to the dope handed out here today Bill Carrigan wants to release Joe Wood, who has yet to show any signs of regaining his place as a major league pitcher. This Speaker, who rooms with Wood all the year around, refuses to stand for Wood's release and Bill Carrigan does not know exactly what to do. Indeed Carrigan is in a quandary, if he drops Wood, Speaker may quit. If he keeps Wood some other players will be peevish about it. Before this fight is settled the Red Sox may be done as a contender for the 1915 pennant.

If the Red Sox have trouble holding their own with the other clubs in this league this season, the chances of the Griffins are all the more increased. Baseball critics here insist that Clark Griffith has a team strong enough to make a fight for the flag. They figure that Detroit, Chicago and Philadelphia are the only teams to make a scrap for supreme honor against the Griffins. Whatever Washington fans may think, all around the American League circuit the experts believe the Griffins are one of the strongest teams in the league. They think that all Clark Griffith's boys have to do is to pick up a little in their hitting to get out in front and stay there. Consequently with the Red Sox torn asunder by troubles inside the club, the Griffins have a better chance than ever to land in front. The Red Sox have been considered the one best bet ever since last year. Now right here where they make their homes they are not thought strong enough to finish stronger than third.

Tomorrow Walter Johnson will very likely be sent to the mound for the Griffins. Eddie Almon doing the honors behind the bat. Almon is a native of Cambridge across the Charles river, and a cross of his trunk tomorrow and so he will work against the Red Sox. Jim Shaw is sure to be used in one of these games, and the third will see Joe Engel or Jack Bentley on the mound for the Griffins.

"If the Red Sox are going bad right now it's all the better for us," said Clark

Griffith today. "We need all the games we can get in the early part of the season. I shall use my pitchers in regular turns and trust to luck to win the games. I think that now we are away from home some of my players will pick up in their hitting. This is particularly true of Zeb Milan and Ray Morgan. I think both of these fellows will soon be hitting around .300. Both have shown me in the past to be able to do this."

When asked about the troubles in the Boston club Manager Griffith refused to talk about the matter. It is, therefore, thought that he has heard about them, but does not want to commit himself.

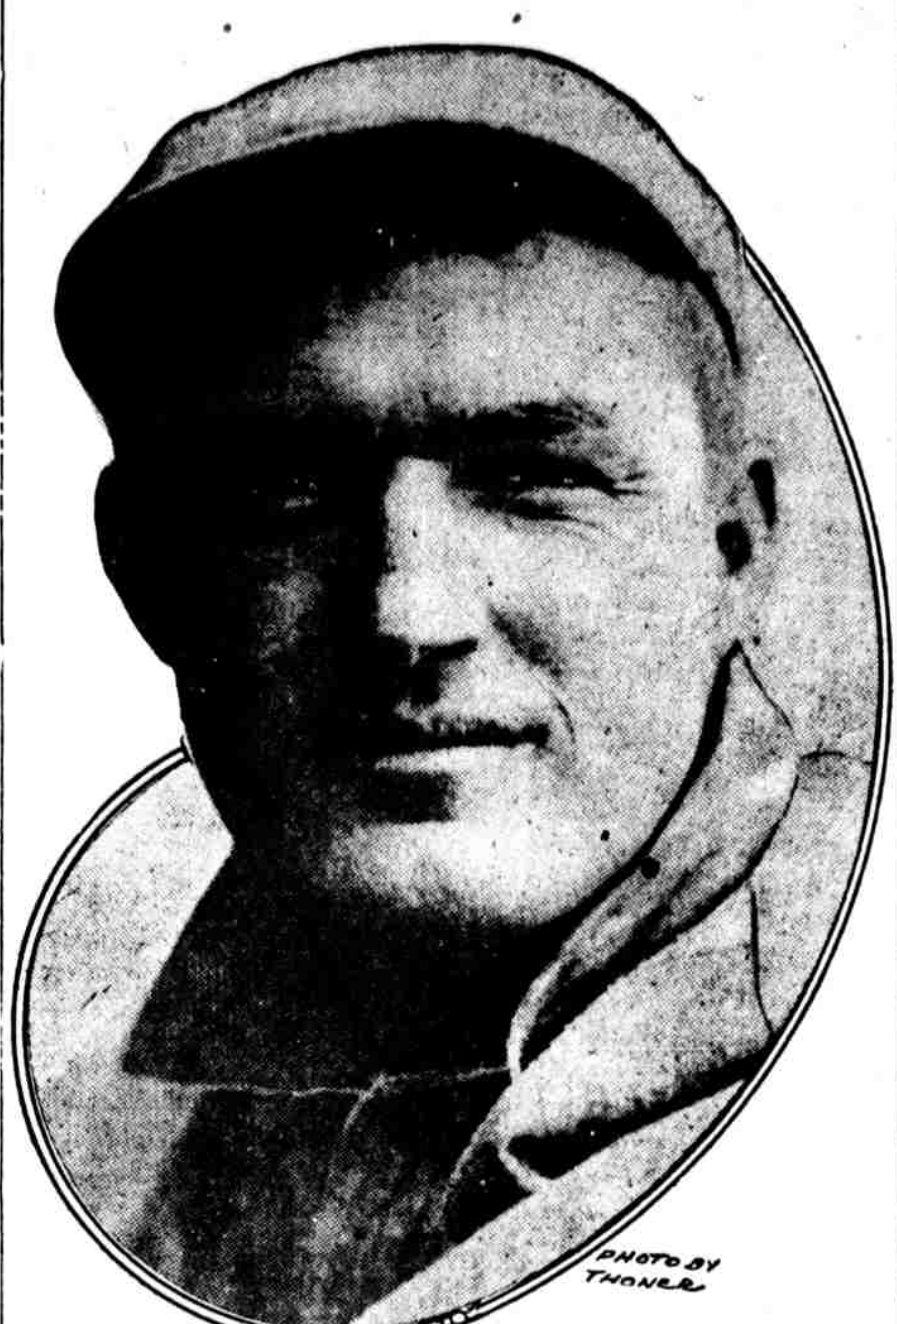

Sunday in Boston is a week. Today the young athletes slept late, many having attended the theater last night. George McBride, Ray Morgan, and Chick Gandil went to the bowling ground where some of the players will pick up in their hitting. This is particularly true of Zeb Milan and Ray Morgan. I think both of these fellows will soon be hitting around .300. Both have shown me in the past to be able to do this."

John Henry, the big backstop, went home to Amherst, Mass., yesterday and will not appear here until tomorrow. Henry Rondeau, the promising outfielder, hiked to Woonsocket, R. I., as soon as he found that the game yesterday was postponed. He has a wife and two-month-old child who went to see him. Rondeau will go home to Woonsocket each night while the team is here.

Howard Shanks is accompanied on the trip by his wife. They are busy today looking over Boston from a motor car.

The weather outlook is not good. It has been cold and rainy for several days and the weather expert says that the weather will appear. The poor conditions have had much to do with the Red Sox's lack of success. The Red Sox fans here. The fans simply refuse to go to all in the stands and freeze to see a ball game. The fans are hoping for warm weather in order to show Boston fans their real class on the diamond.

PIMLICO MEETING RICH IN FEATURES

Races Will Get in Full Swing During Week—Comments and Gossip.

The coming week will see the Pimlico meeting in its full stride. The programs every day will be rich in special features and Saturday will see the running of the Cinnabar Memorial Cup, one of the star events of the meeting.

The opening yesterday was of the old Pimlico order. A big attendance of the best people was on hand and enjoyed an afternoon of the finest kind of racing. The horses ran strictly according to form and six out of the seven races were won by favorites so that everybody went home happy.

The Inaugural Steeplechase aroused about as much enthusiasm as any event of the afternoon and was particularly pleasing to the local crowd, as it was won by Billy Hay, running in the popular black and white stripes of Col. Ral Parr. The winner was one of the jumping lines of last year and has come to the races this season with every prospect of living up to the promises he devoted last year. The race was a mere outting for the Parr horse, which went to the front when Allen called on him and came home well in hand.

Meshach, the property of Miss Chamberlain, which ran into the place after a battle with Joe Davis' Devoter, showed splendid form and should make a very useful feuser.

The winner was trained by Billy Garth, who has contracted a habit of annexing Inaugural Handicaps. The last five winners of this event have been prepared and saddled by the Sage of Albemarle.

In 1911 he won with Ticket of Leave, in 1912 with High Hat, in 1913 with Gun Cotton, in 1914 with Gun Cotton, again, in 1915 with Billy Hay. Willie Allen piloted all these.

Eddie McBride, who is the fortunate owner of two of the best two-year-olds seen this year in George Smith and Tom Elward, took down the Druid Hill Purse with Billy Hay, which put it all over his field.

The public has generally picked George Smith as the best youngster of the year so far. When the question is put to Mr. McBride as to the relative merits of George Smith and Tom Elward he smiles and says he doesn't know which is the better.

Tom Elward made his first start at Havre de Grace April 20, and had not started since until yesterday. The colt was running coughing some since his first win, and his owner felt afraid that he might not show at his best, but his class carried him through.

Amuel Ross' welga was highly fancied in this race, and ran well, landing in third place, but Billy has no business with Tom Elward.

Billy Oliver, who took down the Severn Purse with that rare old sprinter, Kewassa, was a happy man when the Maryland Agricultural College, which was the favorite, was defeated by the colt.

The venerable Scot was supremely confident before the race, and unlabeled to the last moment. The old horse has been mighty good to the house of Oliver this season, having thus far put three good purses on the right side of the ledger.

Oliver thought he had a great chance with Abbottsford in the sixth race, and put a good portion of his Kewassa winnings on the chestnut nag, but with true Scotch prescience placed it all on the blue.

Abbottsford did just land in the third place and another fat wager went to Billy's account.

Algie Daingerfield, who came down to represent the Jockey Club, says that the prospect of the opening day at Belmont Park this spring will be shared with charities, the Lafayette Hotel, the Mercy fund, and the Blue Cross Society. Mr. Belmont and Mrs. Vanderbilt are officers in these charities. It is expected that each of these funds will benefit at least $15,000 by the action of the Belmont Park people.

The stewards turned down several applications for temporary licenses. Those affected were Jockeys H. Cavanaugh, J. Rooney, J. Watts, and R. Small. Trainers Joe Buescher, R. Watts, Joe Goodman, C. Phillips, L. Jones, R. Jackson, and J. Powers. The Jockey Club has taken a stand against granting these temporary licenses, which have worked some mischief in the past.

Benny Kauff Goes Back To Brooklyn Federals. NEW YORK, May 2.—Benny Kauff is lost to the Glants. He goes back to the Brooklyn Federals, after stirring up a big fuss in the baseball world. After a protracted conference yesterday between President Harry Hempstead, of the Glants, and R. H. Ward, owner of the Brooklyn Federals, it was decided that Kauff should go back to the Brooklyn Federals.

At the close of the day's play Commerce led with five double matches won and none lost. The league who saw the matches and were impressed at the evenness of competition.

Commerce sprang a big surprise in taking all of its matches. Little was thought of the length of the team and the Aggie, picked as the strongest in the league, Clarke and Richards had to go to three sets for a win, for Commerce, while Hase and Ruell took a three-set match for Treasury.

BREWER IS BOOKED FOR NEXT OLYMPIAD

St. Alban's Sprinter Worthy Successor to Duffy, Wefers, and Seitz, of Georgetown.

By BRYAN MORSE.

In Brooks Brewer, St. Alban's School sensational athlete, Washington is believed to have produced a worthy successor to Bernie Wefers, Arthur Duffy, and Charlie Seitz, former Georgetown record holders, and although the young sprinter is yet in preparatory school he will be grooming for the next Olympic games, wherever they are held.

Brewer's mark of 9.4 seconds for the one-hundred yard dash, made in yesterday's Maryland Agricultural College meet, is the best since Bernie Wefers and Alvin Kraenzlein stepped their century at the old Van Ness track in 1900. Yesterday's mark is attested by the international meet and will be sent to the A. A. U. by Coach George Green.

The mark set by Brewer was by no means his only achievement in yesterday's banner affair. Brewer won the 220 and 220-yard hurdles, in all he stepped through eight heats, and in the afternoon and no sprinter took his measure in any one of the heats. St. Alban's owes its victory in the meet to Brewer and Crawford Carter, as the half mile was taken by Carter as well as second place in the mile.

Brewer's 15 points earned him, for the second time in succession, the gold watch presented for the best individual mark in the scholastic event. Second to Brewer was R. S. Maxam, of Western, who gained 11 points. Maxam ran 100 and 220 in the 100 and 220, and flashed in ahead in the quarter mile in 30 seconds, 100 in 18 seconds, and the starting line making the running ahead of all of the crack Central quarter-milers, who could not get through the track.

The Maryland Aggies easily captured the intercollegiate events, taking 58 points. Western Maryland was second with 25 points, and Mt. Vernon, City Missionary of St. Paul, Minnesota, with 18. E. W. Montell, P. Morris, and W. Posey, of the Maryland Agricultural College, set new marks in four events. Morris, who ran the mile and half mile marks, Posey created a record in the shotput, while Morris bettered the broad jump record.

St. Alban's, with 23 points, won out in the scholastic events. Central, with 16 points, was second. Tech, with 14 points, was third, and Western, with 12 points, was fourth. Tome School and the Baltimore City College, tied for fifth place with 7 points each. Chevy Chase High School, Friends Select, and the Baltimore Poly finished in the order named.

The Wicomico High School was a winner in the events for county schools, taking the county school banner with twenty points. Sparrows Point and Sparks Aggies tied for second place with five points each.

As an indication of the speed and all around ability of the scholastic performers, the following records were set in two events the half mile and the broad jump, better records were set by the youngsters.

The meet is a forerunner of the high school championships to be held May 22, and judging from the performance in the event yesterday, this year's affair will be closer than was at first thought. Central was considered a grand chance to win yesterday's meet, but had the sprinters come through as well as Wingate and Buehl, the winners of the high and broad jumps, Central would have won.

Tech's strength consisted mainly in the performances of Monroe Sheehan, Harold Supple, and Mobley, and it would not be a surprise to see the Manual Trainers push the Blue and White runners in the coming meet with their strength in the distance and field events.

PAT O'CONNOR GETS JOB AS THIRD MAN

Official Referee Will Work Tomorrow Night at Ardmore Bouts.

Pat O'Connor, official referee of the Ardmore Club, will be the third man in the ring tomorrow night when Bruno Lang and the veteran Tommy Lowe mix it up, if the word of the Ardmore officials is accepted as final.

Lowe balked at Referee O'Connor, but it is believed that the differences will be patched up and that Lowe will accept the club's mandate as to O'Connor. The battle scheduled for tomorrow night is expected to be the fastest yet run off at the club.

The preliminaries are arranged and the whole card is one calculated to bring out the best efforts of the boxers who will enter the ring. Bruno Lang arrived here today and is ready for the battle. Lang came from Cleveland with his manager, Charles Morotta.

The fact that the general admission price has been reduced has caused no end of satisfaction to the many followers of the game in this section of the country. Kid Thomas and Kid Mayo are booked for the semi-windup, while Kid Green and the Italian Kid will swap punches in a four-round match and Kid White and Rubie Smith are due for a bout of similar duration.

DRINK AND DRUG An Easy, Harmless Method of Good Riddance A CHURCHMAN'S REMARKABLE TRIBUTE

From Page 186 in "The Scope of Character," 250-page book, written by Rev. James Donahoe, City Missionary of St. Paul, Minnesota, Deputy Probation Officer, President of the U. S. Prisoners' Aid Society, and Chaplain of the deaf and dumb of St. Paul and vicinity, a work issued by authority of the diocese and endorsed by His Eminence Archbishop Ireland, we quote the following remarkable tribute to the efficacy of the Kin-Po treatment:

"Where there was a lack of confidence in a three-day course of treatment, it is natural to people unprepared to put faith in a one-day liquor cure. Such a rapid cure is not only given, and by it remarkable results are obtained. There was no one more slow to believe in this short treatment than the writer, but soon became an ardent advocate by critically observing those who have been freed from the curse of drink and drugs."

new, has already been put to the test by hundreds of men and women, deeply grateful to those who have perfected the treatment and to all who will help in the work of administering it to the victims of drink. I unhesitatingly recommend this treatment to all who need it."
